The actress, in an engaging conversation with BIG MJ Dilip, talks about how her Veere Di Wedding co-star Kareena Kapoor Khan is an inspiration for all working girls, her desire of doing a biography of iconic actress Madhubala Ji and how women are judged for everything in daily life among many other things.

Talking about Kareena, with whom Swara has once shared the big screen said, “She is an inspiration for the working girls. She has proved that one can have a successful career along with enjoying their personal life. The way she has managed both her professional and personal life is simply amazing.”

When questioned which biography she would like to work in, she said, “I would like to do a biography of Madhubala Ji, if one is ever made on this iconic Bollywood actress. If any biography is made on any historical figure, I would like to do the role of Indira Gandhi.”

When asked about her opinion on how almost all women are judged in everyday life, Swara added, “A lot has been changing when it comes to positioning of women across the world. There is certainly a shift in the mentality, but it’s more of a work in progress situation as of now. Still, opinions about women are formed based on the beauty standards set by the society. They are judged differently for their mistakes too.”

The actress thanked the radio station for extending such an opportunity to her which further brought a little change in her perspective as she got to experience things from the other end.
